TEN CENTS PER WEEK

FOUR SAILORS OF TENNESSEE DEAD AND TWO WILL DIE

Seven Members of Cruiser's Crew Are Seriously Injured as Result of Explosion.

Steam Tube Bursts With Terrible Effect at Sea.

OFFICIAL REPORT RECEIVED

Washington, June 5.—The navy department has received Admiral Sebree's report of the accident to the warship Tennessee near San Pedro yesterday. It announces four dead and two fatally and seven seriously hurt. A four-inch boiler tube burst. The injured were taken to a Los Angeles hospital today.

The Accident.

Los Angeles, June 6.—Four men were killed and ten injured on board the armored cruiser Tennessee at sea when a boiler tube broke, hurling fragments of iron about the engine room and filling it with scalding steam. The accident happened an hour after the cruiser left Santa Barbara on her way, with six other vessels of the Pacific fleet to Los Angeles and other ports.

The cruiser was steaming at high speed when the explosion occurred.

The Tennessee is Admiral Sebree's flagship, commanding the second division of the Pacific fleet.

The Dead and Injured.

The following list of dead and injured was received by wireless station:

The dead: George Wood, Scranton, Pa.; E. C. Boggs, Pittsfield, Mass.; A. Reingold, Germany; George W. Meek, Skidmore, Kan. The fatally injured are: S. S. Temattis, Norfolk, Va., and F. S. Maxfield, of Chester county, Pa. The seriously injured are: E. J. Burns, New York; Walter S. Burns, Brooklyn; J. P. A. Carroll, Hartford, Conn. The slightly injured are: R. W. Watson, East St. Louis; R. E. Rutledge, Athens, Ga.; G. M. Corrs, Ironton, Ohio; A. Hayes, Brooklyn, N. Y.; H. Fitzpatrick, Brooklyn.

235 Pounds of Steam.

Sebree had ordered the cruisers to full speed, and the Tennessee had just concluded a series of evolutions and started straightway at a speed of between 18 and 19 knots. The admiral in the engine room had just taken note that the dial recorded a steam pressure of 235 pounds when the explosion occurred. Less than ten minutes earlier the tubes had stood a pressure of 265 pounds.

There was no wreckage, but the explosion was described by the survivors as frightful.

So great was the blast of soot and steam that every man in the engine room was blackened from head to foot while those closest to the break were literally cooked alive.

A blast of white steam from the ventilators told those on deck of the accident, and Lieutenant Commander Robinson, navigator, instantly sounded a general alarm, and twenty lines of hose were dropped for instant use in case of fire.

Within the doomed fire room, number three, amidship on the starboard side, which is one of the sixteen enclosed fire compartments, the surviving seamen were fighting for life.

Reinhold and Meek were stricken dead at their posts.

Admiral's Narrow Escape.

Boggs and Wood crawled or were dragged into the adjoining fire room, No. 11, and died almost immediately. The surviving seamen, all of whom received some injuries, acted with the greatest heroism in aiding their unfortunate mates. Rear Admiral Sebree escaped death or serious injury in the fire pit by a mere moment's time. He had left the room where the explosion occurred not fifty seconds before the fatal blast. The admiral stood in the engine room adjoining the fire room with Chief Engineer Robertson and Captain Howard. His first intimation of the tragedy was as he mounted the ladder and a half naked fireman leaped past him suffering from severe scalds. Undergoing Inspection.

The ship was undergoing inspection by the commander of the second division and had been under way over two hours, the engine boilers and all working machinery working perfectly, fully equal to the acceptance trial.

The Tennessee was the flagship of the second division of the Pacific cruiser fleet and left Santa Barbara at 10 o'clock in the morning with the other cruisers in her wake, on the semi-annual official speed trial provided for by the naval regulations.

Taft Delegates Winning Before National Republican Committee in Contest For Convention Seats

Hitchcock Says Taft Will be Nominated by Acclamation, While Allies May Carry Up Contest.

Chicago, June 6.—Although the national committee seated Taft delegates of Alabama and Arkansas, the antis are preparing to fight other contests hard and will carry the contests to the credentials committee. They say Taft men cannot pack it and the decision will be different. If necessary they will carry the fight to the convention floor. Congressman Burke, leader of the antis declares he intends to let the country know the star chamber methods of the national committee.

Taft men are jubilant and say they control the national committee three to one. Frank Hitchcock claims that Taft will be nominated by acclamation. The Florida contest commenced today. Delegates at large in two districts are involved. J. N. Stripling, the antis leader, declared that only 15 men attended the Taft convention and officeholders are trying to dominate the state.

The national committee seated six Taft delegates from Florida. Another attempt to oust Hitchcock from the committee failed.

Taft Men Winners.

Without roll calls the Republican national committee decided the contests from Alabama and Arkansas, involving twenty-four seats in the Republican national convention in favor of the delegates instructed for Taft.

The victory for the Taft forces was sweeping, not even a division being required to determine the will of the committee. The Alabama contests, affecting four delegates at large and two delegates from each congressional district, twenty-two in all, were first taken up.

The Alabama cases, by agreement were consolidated and two hours given each side. It was regarded as the most important of all contests, because of the fact that twenty-two delegates were involved, and it was first in the list of states that will be called in the convention when the nominations are being made. The candidate securing the delegation from Alabama is sure to be the first placed in nomination, because the state having no candidate of its own, always yields to that state presenting the candidate favored by Alabama.

After listening to the arguments of both sides the committee went into executive session.

All except the members of the national committee were excluded from the room at 4:15 p. m., and a few minutes later it was learned that the Taft delegates had been seated.

There was no demand for a roll call, and on a viva voce expression it is said that only Scott, of Alabama, the anti-Taft man, voted for the seating of the delegates chosen by his faction.

The Arkansas contests, involving

CITY AND COUNTY COMMITTEES CALL EARLY PRIMARIES

Little Open Opposition to Program of Leaders of Party Shown at Meeting.

City Candidates Will be Named Next August.

CAMPAIGN STARTS AT ONCE

City and county Democratic committees met this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the city hall and decided to hold primary elections to nominate candidates for the various offices to be filled next November and a year from next November. The city primary to nominate jailer, treasurer, councilmen, aldermen and school trustees, will be held August 6. Nominations of candidates for county officers will be made in a county primary to be held on the presidential election day, November 3.

J. M. Lang, Gus Rogers and W. A. Berry were appointed a committee to arrange the details of the primaries. The members of the committees present this morning were unanimous for a primary instead of a convention. Some of the candidates desire that the county primary be held next summer, but they were so largely in the minority that they did not even express their convictions. The city Democratic committee was first called to order by Chairman W. A. Berry, and after a delay a quorum was secured. The committee present were: R. J. Wilson, J. J. Lally, Henry Blederman, Harry Rudolph, J. M. Lang, Gus Rogers, W. J. Gilbert, Charles Smedley and Ed Baker.

Objections to a primary election on account of the expense were met by offers of six precinct committees to hold the primary in their precincts, free of charge, to the candidates. The primary will cost $300. Volunteer officers for the voting places will be secured to lighten the expense. It was decided also to hold both primaries under the state law, which will make it as valid as an election.

Chairman Berry then adjourned the city committee and called the county committee to order. As there are six vacancies on the county committee, which normally has 35 members, 15 members were a quorum and a meeting was possible. In addition to the city committee present, six county committeemen were present, as follows: Henry Derrington, Florence precinct; Morton Adecock, Lang school precinct; O. W. Rawlinson, Riedland precinct; William Purdon, New Hope precinct; Jim Segenfelter, Benton, Ky., June 6.—(Special.)

Opposition to the county primary a year in advance of the election was not voiced in the committee meeting. J. M. Lang's motion for the November primary was unanimously carried. But certain candidates, who would not speak out in meeting, expressed themselves privately.

Mrs. Essie Ingram Grows Very Bitter When Judge Lightfoot Denies Her Request.

Judge Lightfoot received another call yesterday from Mrs. Essie Ingram, who again demanded her child that is being cared for at the Home of the Friendless, and upon his refusal to let the woman have the baby he was called a number of uncomplimentary things by the enraged woman. The child was placed in the Home after it had been abandoned by the mother and was being kept by another woman. It was learned that the baby was not properly cared for and also reported that it was slowly starving to death while several different parties held insurance policies on the life of the little one. Soon after it was taken to the Home of the Friendless the mother brought suit in circuit court for possession of the child, but the case was decided against her. The Ingram woman and her husband are now living together, but it is not believed by the court to be right to allow them possession of the child they once abandoned.

The woman threatened to take the child from the Home of the Friendless yesterday.

An Inconsiderate Tiger. Several papers in India, according to some of their London contemporaries, print the following, written by a native subordinate in his diary while in a trying position: "Up a tree where I adhere with much pain and discomposure while big tiger roaring in a very awful manner on the fire line. This is very inconsiderate tiger, and causes me great griefs, as I have before reported to your honor. This is two times he spoiled my work, coming and shouting like thunder, and putting me up a tree, and making me behave like an insect. It is very awkward fate to me and the tiger is most inconsiderate."

PATRONS PLEASED WITH RACING CARD

Hundreds Witness First Matinee Meet of Summer.

Three Interesting Events and Effort to Lower Track Record at Edgewood Grounds.

HOW SPORT WAS CONDUCTED

The Winners.

Class C Pace and Trot—Prince S., driven by Tom Settle. Time 1:27.

Class B Pace—Brookhill, driven by A. S. Thompson. Time 2:30.

Class A Trot—Driven by A. S. Thompson. Time 2:26 1/4.

The first matinee races of the season were given yesterday afternoon at Edgewood track by the Matinee club. About 500 people watched the horses go around the track, and were well pleased with the first races. Pansy Blossom failed to lower the trotting track record by one-half second.

Class C—Mixed trot and pace, one-half mile heats, 2 in 3.

The entries were: Prince S., Tom Settle; Rodney D., Harris; Miss Chimes, J. E. Turner; Black Bess, M. M. Tucker.

In the first heat only Rodney D. and Prince S. behaved and kept together. Both ran well, but Rodney D. gained and passed under the wire a half length ahead. Black Bess and Miss Chimes were far back and off their strides.

In the second heat the horses left evenly bunched. At the first clip Prince S. and Rodney D. collided but kept going. At the quarter Prince S. led Rodney D. by two lengths. Black Bess fought it out with Miss Chimes for third place.

In the third heat Black Bess and Miss Chimes were withdrawn. Rodney D. and Prince S. went off together, but Rodney D. broke and gave Prince S. the advantage, and he went under the wire in good time. The heats were finished in 1:26, 1:31 and 1:27.

Class B—Pace, mile heats, 2 in 3.

The entries were: Brookhill, A. S. Thompson; Tobe Scott, George Goodman; Sam Patch, Tom Settle; Gus B. M. M. Tucker. All started even, but Brookhill and Sam Patch behaved and the others were left behind. After leading, Sam Patch broke and Brookhill passed him and won by two lengths from Tobe Scott, also won Sam Patch.

The second heat was a struggle between Brookhill and Rain-in-the-Face. They went together until the three-quarter mark was passed and Brookhill lost his feet. Rain-in-the-Face went on but jumped soon, and Brookhill came in front by two lengths. The time was 2:38 1/2 and 2:30.

Little Pansey Blossom, the game little lightweight pacer of M. M. Turner, tried to lower the track record held by Ellinor of 2:12 1/2, but broke and lost a half second. However, Pansey beat the matinee record held by Loleta, which was 2:14 1/2.

Class A—Trot, mile heats, 2 in 3.

The entries were: Billy Buck, A. S. Thompson; Coria, J. E. Turner.

In the first heat Billy Buck passed under the wire in 2:23 1/2. He was lame as the result of returning from Memphis, but Coria was also sore, and could not do her best. However, at times the heats warmed up.

The second heat went in 2:26 1/2.

Billy Buck went the last quarter in 1:32.

Wynn Tully was starter and as usual gave entire satisfaction to the audience and the drivers. In two weeks another race will be given and probably during the meeting of the traveling men there will be two days of the sport.

Skiddoo, owned by James Glauber, was auctioned off by Mr. Glauber. The bidding was slow, but Wynn Tully bought the horse for $162.50.

Deal's band furnished excellent music during the intermissions.

POLITICAL FEUD

STARTED AMONG REPUBLICANS IN PHILADELPHIA.

Warrants and Counter-Warrants Coming Fast Against Organization.

Philadelphia, June 6.—An action which, it is said, presages one of the bitterest political feuds that has been witnessed in this city for a long time was taken here by State Senator James P. McNichol, who is causing warrants to be issued for Max Kaufmann, until today secretary to Mayor Reyburn, and D. Clarence Gibbons, secretary of the Law and Order society, on criminal charges. The warrants charge in the case of Kaufmann perjury, and in that of Gibbons, libel.

The issuing of the warrants followed the holding of Senator McNichol, the acknowledged Republican organization leader, earlier in the day on a charge of criminal libel, preferred by Kaufmann, who sought redress because he was named by McNichol as the go-between who had been paid $10,000 to induce Mr. Gibbons to make raids on disorderly houses and gambling places in 1905 and so discredit the administration of the then Mayor John Weaver.

Robbers Who Become "Human Trees."

A most ingenious device to escape capture is that shown by the Beech robbers of India. It oft happens that a band of these marauders are pursued by mounted men, and an effort to reach the jungle, find themselves about to be overtaken upon one of those open plains which have been cleared by fire, the only shelter in sight being the blackened trunks or leafless branches of small trees that have perished in the flames.

For men so skilled in posturing is this shelter enough. Quickly divesting themselves of their scanty clothing, they scatter it with their plunder, in small piles over the plain, covering them with their round shields, so that they have the appearance of lumps of earth and attract no attention. This accomplished, they snatch up a few sticks, throw their bodies into contorted position and stand or crouch immovable until their unscrupulous enemies have galloped by. When all is safe they quickly pick up their spoil and proceed upon their way.

A traveler wrote of these marvelous mimics: "Before the English had become used to their maneuvers a very ludicrous incident occurred. An officer with a party of horsemen was chasing a small body of Beech robbers, and was fast overtaking them. Suddenly the robbers ran behind a rock or some such obstacle, which hid them for a moment, and when the soldiers came up the men had mysteriously disappeared.

"After an unavailing search the officer ordered his men to dismount beside a clump of scorched and withered trees; and the day being very hot, he took off his helmet and hung it on a branch by which he was standing. The branch in question turned out to be the leg of a Beech, who burst into a scream of laughter, and hung the astonished officer to the ground. The clump of scorched trees suddenly became metamorphized into men, and the whole party dispersed in different directions before the Englishmen could recover from their surprise, carrying with them the officer's helmet by way of trophy."

Figures show that school teachers, as a class, are long-lived.

Hot Stove—Cool Kitchen

How do you expect to endure the broiling days of summer if you prepare all the food over a glowing coal fire?

You need a "New Perfection" Oil Stove that will do the cooking without cooking the cook. It concentrates plenty of heat under the pot and diffuses little or none through the room. Therefore, when working with the the kitchen actually seems as comfortable as you could wish it to be.

This, in itself, is wonderful, but, more than that, the "New Perfection" Oil Stove does perfectly everything that any stove can do. It is an ideal all-round cook-stove. Made in three sizes, and fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

Daily Thought.

There are sweet surprises awaiting many a humble soul, fighting against odds in the battle of a seemingly commonplace life.—Henry Van Dyke.

This is the national Republican wash day and there is a deal of dirty linen hanging on the line.

stretching optimism to the border of vanity to believe that they will be under present conditions.

The argument is made that men toll in the cities six days and they have no time to witness ball games or enjoy other daylight pastimes, excepting on Sunday. Others wish to go into the country, to spend the time in the open with their families. Let not the dilettante scorn the pastimes of the poor, or the fashionable preacher reason this argument to absurdity until he has tried that limited life for a year. Much of the refinements of the argument, to be sure, are unreal and manufactured by commercial Sabbath breakers; but that condition stands between the cities and Sabbath observance to prevent a restoration of the spirit of the day.

While it is true that men, who toll in the open at health giving manual labor, have no such excuse, clerks in offices and stores must be given their outing and, what is more to the point, they will have it.

It is not right to deplore on the part of the city dweller a desire for so much of nature as his environments and financial condition permit him to enjoy; and if a bit of country is brought to him on the Sabbath, even though associated with something not elevating or genuinely bucolic, it shows that someone has recognized and is catering to this desire of his; and we are too human to blame him altogether. He is yielding first to the pressure of the message who had preceded him.

"They didn't want to turn him loose, because he knew too much; so they decided he was a vag, and run him in till the war is over."

Hiller knew now what had been his predecessor's fate, but made no reply. His informant after a pause continued: "There's been only one accident besides that which happened to the Jap, and that was a poor devil that undertook to go over in one of these newfangled airships. He certainly got his tire punctured all right, and came down mighty sudden." The soldier stopped for a moment and heaved a long sigh, and then concluded in a softer voice: "I was awfully sorry for that fellow. He wasn't no spy nor nothing like that, but just a young newspaper chap doing the best he knew how to get the goods. He was done for when the boys picked him up. The colonel felt about as sorry as anybody else, and got special permission from the Canadian government to send a squad back with him as a guard of honor."

By this time Hiller had donned the dry garments that had been provided, and stood awaiting the further instructions of his captor. "Well, what am I to do?" he inquired, seeing that the man stood motionless.

"Oh, you can go back across the line, or if you want to one of the boys will find a place for you to bunk till morning. You see, you're kind of a distinguished guest. We all had orders to treat you nicely, and the colonel will have a machine here to take you back wherever you want to go tomorrow."

Baffled by vigilance and overcome by courtesy the secretary, after bidding his captor good-by, retired for the night to a camp cot in the quarters of a lieutenant of infantry. It was long before he succumbed to a sleep of utter exhaustion. He was awakened by a bugle call in the morning, and found his boss shaving himself before a small mirror suspended from the tent pole.

"Good morning, Mr. Hiller," the officer said. "Not quite as pleasant quarters as the secretary of the British embassy is entitled to, and not many conveniences; but you're welcome to my razor if you'll wait a minute."

Hiller sat up, rubbing his eyes. Neatly stretched out on a camp stool before him were his shabby clothes, improved by washing, not only dry but pressed. He stared at them in surprise, while the officer laughingly continued:

"Yes, we did the best we could for them; but I don't think you made a friend of my orderly, as he swears he has worked on them all night long, and has requested a day's leave on the strength of it."

Thanking the officer for his hospitality, Hiller slowly garbed himself and stepped through the tent flap. Below him and stretching away as far as the eye could discern were gray-brown embankments, one line within the other, and excavated with military precision.

"Intruders," came a voice behind him, observing his curious inspection. "We have to keep the boys busy, and besides the government didn't want to take any chances. Those pits stretch across this continent now, and there won't be any trouble for a good many years to come for people to tell just where the border is located. Like 'em?" he concluded, whimsically.

"No, I can't say that I do," Hiller responded with equal good nature; "but they look business like."

"Oh, they're the goods sure enough," his informant continued; "but that isn't all. See that little mound over there?" and he pointed a bare brown arm over his guest's shoulder. Hiller nodded assent and looked inquiringly at his companion. "Behind that there's a brace of Gatling guns. Got them too every little ways. Never had to fire 'em yet, and hope we never will. But you never can tell. Same work's been done along the Mexican border line; but it's easier to guard this war certainly has educated a lot of fellows; so that when it's over there'll be a plenty of men who can show callousness that were never decorated with 'em before. This country's botched up now as tight as if the Lord Almighty had set a can over it," and he laughed at his own joke.

The motor car was placed at Hiller's disposal as promised, and before night fell he found himself back in his room at the hotel no worse and no better for his experience. For ten days thereafter he made useless attempts to forward his message by every means that his ingenuity could suggest. Once he allowed it out of his hands, intrusting it through extremity to the care of a fisherman, and on the following day, with seals unbroken, it was returned to him by a polite officer of the United States army in civilian dress. Were it not such with a large majority of city dwellers now, and thousands of others, who are not compelled by circumstances to toil, take advantage of the Sabbath freedom from interruption to perform tasks they habitually assign themselves for that day.

Amusement lovers who have been looking for a real good repertoire show will not be disappointed when they visit Wallace Park Casino next Monday evening to see the Hutton-Bailey Stock company produce the beautiful four-act pastoral comedy-drama, "Little Princess." This will be the first engagement of this company at that popular place of amusement. High class vaudeville acts, such as Forbes & Forbes, Little Berenice, Isabel Rollas Bailey and others will be introduced between acts.

If the forebodings of the churchmen are realized, it will be the workers' own fault; but there is a modicum of truth in what they declare as their reason for taking a holiday on the Sabbath. City dwellers of today are living under conditions of which the Puritans knew nothing. It is too much to say that Sabbath enter-have come to regard it as a joke, a boy's game of prisoner's base or tag, in which he was always "it."

And then, as if to reprobate him for his failure, there came from the clearness of the sky a swift and terrible thunderbolt. It was a message from England reporting the disappearance of that immense fleet which was to follow on his heels, and depended upon the delivery of his message for its immunity from attack. He had taken too long!

Stunned by this overwhelming disaster, shuddering in each nerve, and with every fiber of his body quivering, he sought the seclusion of his room, threw himself upon his bed and buried his face in the pillows. Repeatedly there ran through his mind the self-reproach that had it not been for his failure this shocking toll of war might never have been collected. An armada of greater strength than that which had fought off Cape Trafalgar had sailed gallantly out to its doom, trusting to him to avert disaster, and he in this hour of stress, when the fate of nations hinged upon his resource, had proved inefficient! Over and over he relived the struggle he had made to accomplish his mission, but found even in this stern self-criticism no flaw of endeavor. But in his hour of bitterest despair, he thought that God might have more kind.

ARE VICTORIOUS
ON SECOND POINT

The ordinance passed by the general council, requiring all the dealers selling milk and butter in the city to have their cows tested for tuberculosis, was declared unconstitutional this morning by Police Judge D. A. Cross.

The test case was against L. D. Sanders, and the warrant was dismissed, but the city will take an appeal on the case. In his remarks Judge Cross said that the ordinance was unjust, oppressive, in conflict with the state constitution, and compelled the dairymen to have their herds tested by the city veterinarian only. The small dealer could not pay the cost for the tests, according to the expressions. It was the contention of the defense that no one could bring the smallest quantity of milk into the city, unless the herds had been examined by the city veterinarian, although the cows might have been tested by the state veterinarian of any state. Considerable interest among the dairymen was aroused, and the decision was reached after careful study, and reference to authorities. This is the second victory of the dairymen in the police court. Recently they secured a decision holding the license ordinance applied to farmers who supply customers with butter and buttermilk which sent butter up five cents within 24 hours.

By this time Hiller had donned the dry garments that had been provided, and stood awaiting the further instructions of his captor. "Well, what am I to do?" he inquired, seeing that the man stood motionless.

"Oh, you can go back across the line, or if you want to one of the boys will find a place for you to bunk till morning. You see, you're kind of a distinguished guest. We all had orders to treat you nicely, and the colonel will have a machine here to take you back wherever you want to go tomorrow."

Baffled by vigilance and overcome by courtesy the secretary, after bidding his captor good-by, retired for the night to a camp cot in the quarters of a lieutenant of infantry. It was long before he succumbed to a sleep of utter exhaustion. He was awakened by a bugle call in the morning, and found his boss shaving himself before a small mirror suspended from the tent pole.

"Good morning, Mr. Hiller," the officer said. "Not quite as pleasant quarters as the secretary of the British embassy is entitled to, and not many conveniences; but you're welcome to my razor if you'll wait a minute."

Hiller sat up, rubbing his eyes. Neatly stretched out on a camp stool before him were his shabby clothes, improved by washing, not only dry but pressed. He stared at them in surprise, while the officer laughingly continued:

"Yes, we did the best we could for them; but I don't think you made a friend of my orderly, as he swears he has worked on them all night long, and has requested a day's leave on the strength of it."

Thanking the officer for his hospitality, Hiller slowly garbed himself and stepped through the tent flap. Below him and stretching away as far as the eye could discern were gray-brown embankments, one line within the other, and excavated with military precision.

"Intruders," came a voice behind him, observing his curious inspection. "We have to keep the boys busy, and besides the government didn't want to take any chances. Those pits stretch across this continent now, and there won't be any trouble for a good many years to come for people to tell just where the border is located. Like 'em?" he concluded, whimsically.

"No, I can't say that I do," Hiller responded with equal good nature; "but they look business like."

"Oh, they're the goods sure enough," his informant continued; "but that isn't all. See that little mound over there?" and he pointed a bare brown arm over his guest's shoulder. Hiller nodded assent and looked inquiringly at his companion. "Behind that there's a brace of Gatling guns. Got them too every little ways. Never had to fire 'em yet, and hope we never will. But you never can tell. Same work's been done along the Mexican border line; but it's easier to guard this war certainly has educated a lot of fellows; so that when it's over there'll be a plenty of men who can show callousness that were never decorated with 'em before. This country's botched up now as tight as if the Lord Almighty had set a can over it," and he laughed at his own joke.

The motor car was placed at Hiller's disposal as promised, and before night fell he found himself back in his room at the hotel no worse and no better for his experience. For ten days thereafter he made useless attempts to forward his message by every means that his ingenuity could suggest. Once he allowed it out of his hands, intrusting it through extremity to the care of a fisherman, and on the following day, with seals unbroken, it was returned to him by a polite officer of the United States army in civilian dress. Were it not such with a large majority of city dwellers now, and thousands of others, who are not compelled by circumstances to toil, take advantage of the Sabbath freedom from interruption to perform tasks they habitually assign themselves for that day.

Amusement lovers who have been looking for a real good repertoire show will not be disappointed when they visit Wallace Park Casino next Monday evening to see the Hutton-Bailey Stock company produce the beautiful four-act pastoral comedy-drama, "Little Princess." This will be the first engagement of this company at that popular place of amusement. High class vaudeville acts, such as Forbes & Forbes, Little Berenice, Isabel Rollas Bailey and others will be introduced between acts.

If the forebodings of the churchmen are realized, it will be the workers' own fault; but there is a modicum of truth in what they declare as their reason for taking a holiday on the Sabbath. City dwellers of today are living under conditions of which the Puritans knew nothing. It is too

RECEIVE MEMBERS OF HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF '08.

Charming Hospitality and Beautiful Program of Song and Story Completes Occasion.

A week of festivities for the graduates of High school was closed last night with a reception to the "grads" at the Woman's club by the Alumni association of the High school. The rooms were decorated prettily with green and white, and roses, ferns and alms were placed around the rooms. In the dining room the color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the refreshments and sweet performed a pretty decoration. The members of the evening were welcomed by the officers of the Alumni association and a number of the members in an informal way. Ices and ices were served, which came from Louisville.

In addition to the reception a charming musical program was given. Mrs. Leila Wade Lewis opened the program with a solo, "Thy Kiss Dear Maid." She was compelled to respond to an ence. Miss Anna B. Larkin gave a reading entitled "The Soul of the Violet" with the musical accompaniment. Miss Adah Bratzell, Miss Lark is a charming reciter, and gave a peace with ease and grace.

Miss Lila Mayes Sutherland, who has returned from Chicago recently, where she attended a musical conservatory for two years, played "Love Soj" by Padewski, and "Persian Song" by Burmeister. Miss Sutherland plays with good execution.

Miss Ann Bird Stewart recited "The Socie Faculty," which is a clever talk on modern society life. It is original with Miss Stewart, and was greatly enjoyed. "All for You," was sung by Richard Scott, and he was called upon for an encore.

BIRDS' NEST FIRE CAUSES FIREMEN HIGH POLE CLIMB

One of the most peculiar fires that was ever reported to the fire department, came this morning at 8 o'clock when one of the East Tennessee Telephone company's poles at Fourth and Harrison streets caught fire. The pole is 35 feet high and the alarm was given at the Central fire station. Captain Joe Collins and W. J. MacPherson, city electrical inspector, went to the pole and climbed up to the top and extinguished the blaze.

On the pole were guy wires and the pole has burned near the top so that the wires fell over and allowed a secondary wire carrying a voltage of 110 volts to fall a messenger wire in two and loosen several cables.

Captain Collins and Mr. MacPherson carried a Johnson pump with them, and threw water on the fire, but later climbed to the fire and by vigorously pumping water the blaze was out in five minutes. The blaze probably started in the night, as the pole was well burned and the embers were blowing across the street when discovered. It is the opinion that some birds had a nest in the top of the Pake pole, and a spark set it on fire.

BAD CHECK MAN

Another bad check man has been working in Paducah but so far only $25 have been secured. The stranger entered B. Welle's store and F. Newmann's store, where each cashed a check for $10, and Ernest Lackey at Gugel's cashed a check for $5. The man's story was that he had sold a hog to Milo Rector, a butcher on market, and after purchasing goods, offered the check in payment, which was drawn on the City National bank. When cashing the check, the stranger was dressed in overalls, and looked like a farmer. The police have been notified, but have been unable to catch the slick citizen.

Boy Orator Draws Crowd.

Curiosity drew many persons to the First Baptist church last evening to hear Humphrey Lee, the boy orator, speak on the temperance question, but they left with the idea that he has an unusual amount of ability. Mr. Will Rock introduced young Mr. Lee in a graceful speech, covering some of the history of the speaker. The boy's father sat upon the platform and stated that his son has invitations to speak sufficient to fill every night for a year. The boy orator reinforced his points with anecdotes and at the close of his speech had the words of a song he composed, which was sung to the tune of

GERMAN VIEW OF THE SITUATION IN MACEDONIA

New York, June 6.—Baron Speck von Sternberg, the German ambassador to the United States, has an article in the forthcoming Outlook giving an official German view of the Macedonian situation. The ambassador speaks with full personal as well as official information, as he was Germany's agent at Belgrade for some time and made a study there and in Macedonia of existing conditions. He says in part:

From a general point of view, Germany holds the opinion that the maintenance of the status quo is in the interest of all the powers. Germany agrees with the whole civilized world that the unbearable state of affairs in Macedonia urgently calls for a remedy and steps must be taken to put a stop to the continuous bledshed, murder and outrages there.

Germany is convinced that all measures bearing upon this subject will only have a possibility of success if they receive the firm support of all the powers, acting in absolute harmony with each other.

Germany is ready to consider seriously and favorably any suitable proposal, from whatever side it may come, by which the present state of affairs in Macedonia can be remedied, and is prepared to give her full consent thereto, provided that it meets with the consent of the other powers.

To be Remedy.

The question, what measures are the most suitable? is a matter of discussion. At the first glance it seems doubtful to the German government, if larger or smaller increase of the police force would give the desired result, but she is far from rejecting this idea ab initio as unfounded. Germany regards with some skepticism, however, the idea of placing the command of the Turkish troops in the hands of Christian officers, even if this is done by allowing European officers to direct the movements of the troops without their being actually in command of such troops when actually operating.

In any case it holds the opinion that the task of elaborating practical measures destined to change, or at least to ameliorate, the state of affairs in Macedonia and its deplorable features should best be confided to the representatives of the powers at Constantinople.

As far as the judiciary reform is concerned, the German government considers the realization of such as not only useful, but as absolutely necessary. It does not regard it as the most appropriate measure for quieting the Balkan states, and also doubts that the scheme for a reform of the Turkish judiciary system in its present form is appropriate in all points. But whether this scheme be considered as perfect in all details, or whether it is defective and offers difficulties of execution, the German government is ready, in order not to trouble the concert of the powers, to give its consent to the project as it now stands, if all the powers do likewise.

of Dandruff on It.

If your coat or shoulders have a white dust upon it, the chances are that it is from dandruff. The only way to permanently cure dandruff is to remove the cause, which is a germ. Every toilet table should have such a hair-dressing that contains also the destroyer of the dandruff and hair-feeding germ. It stops all irritation, keeps the scalp sweet, pure and wholesome. Remember that something claimed to be "just as good," will not do the work of genuine Hericide. Sold by leading druggists, two sizes, 50¢ and $1.00. Send 10¢ in stamps for sample to The Hericide Co., Detroit, Mich.—R. W. Walker Co., Special Agents.

SERVANT PROBLEM.

Hashimura Togo, the inimitable Japanese Schoolboy whose letters appear in Collier's, gives some interesting experiences this week in telling of his struggles with the servant problem.

In part he says:

"Have you got some good references of recommend to show you could hold situation of Servant Problem elsewhere?" he says.

"Of course I have! I degrade, so I took from my inward vest following recommend of my intelligence which I wrote myself:

—Mrs. C. W. O'Brien, honorable lady, where I do table wait & terrible order from fresh American gentleman who say "Jap boy!" with voice so I am very sorry when hot soup down him at collar & I am next irritate to race-plot with Whang So, China boy of doggy face & terminate there by hanging by the tail of his head to hon. doorknob. Goodbye, Mrs. C. W. O'Brien! Time there was 3 week.

—Hon. Miss Maizie Jone, young lady of considerable antiquity & large average weight, promise pay me 100 hr teach her bisicke ride. I teach her gently by up-hill; but by down-hill teaching become deliciously rapid because of nervousness enjoyed by hon. machinery. Japanese Boy is earnest to stop it & can not do until Baker Wagon ensue & leave Hon. Maizie broken among machinery. I am Hospital Corps for help; but Hon. Maizie become loudly thankless. Time there was ½ hr & no pay.

—Board House of Mrs. Van Horn. There I am guaranteed for experienced window-wash. This is high task of scrubbing and I am serious about it until suds-bucket overspill 3 stories to top of Episcopal Clergyman who notice it. Hashimura Togo depart with fire-alarm. Time there was 2 days, 15 minute.

—Golden West Garage where I need scarcely be mentioned that the frequent statements by the foreign press asserting that Germany is supporting Turkish armaments and encouraging the warlike spirit in Turkey—which, in fact, according to all information, is in no way discernible—are an absurd invention.

The Salvation Army has a factory in Europe where musical instruments are made for its members.
